NEW WORLDS SCORE SHEETS AND SCORING GUIDELINES

Below you will find the changes a description of the major changes in the new score sheets.

- Larger top scoring range
  - o Worlds only has L5 and L6 divisions. Both previous Worlds Judges and coaches requested a larger scoring range at the top end. Instead of trying to score 40 or sometimes more teams within a two point range for such things as stunts, the top scoring range is now 5-10 (for difficulty) or 10-15 (for execution).
- Heavy focus on execution
  - o Most coaches in the industry are requesting a higher focus on execution. The USASF has heard this request and has response is reflected in the Worlds score sheet.
- New descriptions in the guidelines
  - o In a compromise between informing coaches how to effectively max out the score sheet with out limiting or killing creativity, you will see new descriptions in the guidelines. The USASF resisted listing specific skills required for the fear of the unintentional consequence of forcing teams to look alike and restricting creativity. The USASF does not want to create a compulsory routine style of competition.
- Score Sheet Breakdown
  - o In this score sheet packet, you will find a page with a breakdown of skills with their percentages relative to the entire scoring range.
